

kamloops: this is who WE are!

the broncos

The Kamloops Broncos might not have achieved a lot of on-field success since returning to the British Columbia Football Conference in 2007, but the organization has become a pillar in the Kamloops community.

Led by president and general manager Dino Bernardo, the Broncos have charged into various charitable endeavours, including the Raise a Reader program, events with the United Way and elementary school flag-football tournaments.

The Bronco players are some of the luckiest in the entire Canadian Junior Football League.

Kamloops plays at state-of-the-art Hillside Stadium on a field the Canadian Football League's B.C. Lions have deemed one of the best in the nation.

The Grey Cup champion Lions have made Hillside home for training camp for the last two seasons and will do so again this summer.

A non-profit society — the Kamloops Junior Football Association

(KJFA) — controls Broncos' operations.

The KJFA is run by a board of directors, members at large and a dedicated pool of volunteers.

Thompson Rivers University has become a major recruiting tool for the Broncos, with players from across the country coming to the Tournament Capital to enjoy Bronco football and life on campus.

Bernardo hopes the recent re-institution of community football in Kamloops will help turn the on-field fortune of the Broncos, who have not made the playoffs since returning to the BCFC.

The first young crop of football players who played community football and moved through the high-school ranks will soon be arriving at Hillside.

Kamloops is always looking for sponsors, who benefit from exposure at home games, where the Broncos average about 600 fans per contest.
